Hi Linda,

Thanks for sending the agenda. Since this is part of a larger meeting, do you want us to use your call in/Skype info, or is everyone going to be using the info on the invite that I sent you, which is below?

Tim is getting the slides ready. In case folks want to look at the site in advance, the beta public version of the National PFAS Data Explorer is at Ex. 6 Personal Privacy (PP)

The government version, PFAS Analytic Tools, which has a few additional features is in echo.epa.gov. After signing in to ECHO Gov, it is under the Analyze Trends menu, then the Data Visualization Gallery link has the PFAS Analytic Tools

Mike

Hi, Just checking to ensure we're still on. We will probably have a lot of people connecting remotely given the situation in Seattle.

Attached is the latest revised draft agenda for next week's Extended ET Meeting. Since there have been a lot of changes since the last draft, please check it carefully to make sure I didn't accidentally delete or keep your topic contrary to your instructions and provide any other feedback as appropriate. I would like to send out a final agenda by COB tomorrow. Thanks!--Ed
